

Records Day

Saturday May 31, 2008

Sunshine, strong breezes and temps in the upper 60's greeted the riders looking to set both personal best and track records times. Flying 200 meters and 500 meter standing starts were run but as the first Kilo run started, the clouds moved in and dumped their contents on the velodrome. The cloud burst only lasted for 10 minutes and riders were back on a dry track in just 17 minutes after the rain ended. The strong gusty winds that arrived with the rain remained. The 20 mph wind blowing in from the northwest, with gusts to 30 mph or better, did not deter the riders who ages ranged from 11 to 74 years of age. The only event that was scrubbed do to the wind was the "The Hour".

The day also saw the return of the Team Hibiscus jersey to The Velodrome at Bloomer Park. Several first time riders also tried their hand at the personal, Olympic Sprints and mixed tandem events.
